You are asked to read in assembly but on the day, you are too nervous and don't want to read.

What would you do?

You begin to find your school work difficult.

What would you do?

Your friends tell you to lie to your parents or carers about where you are going.

What would you do?

You work really hard to get into the football team but you don't get picked.

What would you do?

You find out that all of your friends have been invited for a sleepover at your friend's house but you haven't been invited.

What would you do?

You can't go to your Grandma's house for tea when you've been waiting all day.
